- Cam Sylvester, MA – ccamsylvester@gmail.com

COURSE DESCRIPTION:
In this course, students will better understand the ways populations are impacted by their location – environmentally, historically, culturally, and economically. Students will explore how social divisions occur as well as how divisions can be positively addressed. Students will learn about how the local culture has evolved to its present state, and strive to understand what influences environmentally, historically, culturally, and/or economically have influenced it. Supplemental assignments offer opportunities for research and reflection of experiences.

COURSE EXPECTATIONS:
- Environment of Respect: Disagreement and diversity of opinions are encouraged. You will be challenged to think critically about the impact of cultural differences, which may include gender, race, the roles environment has in business and market development, socioeconomic status, physical and cognitive ability, sexuality and other forms of diversity. You are encouraged to ask difficult questions and engage in discussion and critical reflection. Please be respectful of others, listen, and try to understand differences.
- Experiential Learning: In this course, learning is an experiential process in which you have the opportunity to engage in and reflect on a variety of different experiences throughout the term. The richness of this class will depend on the questions, insights, and active participation that you bring.
- Personal Responsibility: You are expected to engage fully in this class and take action if you need help. Please communicate any concerns about assignments, deadlines, or classroom activities.
- Academic Integrity: Please adhere to university policies. Please take special note of policies regarding plagiarism and course withdrawal. It is expected that each student will prepare his or her own assignments and that any assignments submitted will be the sole work of the student. Academic dishonesty, including cheating, plagiarism, or knowingly furnishing false information, will not be tolerated. The University’s Code of Student Conduct may be found at https://www.pdx.edu/dos/psu-student-code-conduct.
STUDENT OUTCOMES:
Upon completion of this course, participants will be able to:
- Identify key elements in the shaping of local culture, as well as the limitations in such assessments.
- Examine differences and similarities, by working and/or volunteering in an international setting.
- Analyze and summarize insights gained from engaging in varied local cultural experiences.
- Improve cross-cultural communication, interpersonal skills and enhance critical thinking of international development through volunteer activities.

CONTACT HOURS, EXCURSIONS, AND METHODS OF INSTRUCTION:
A total of 40 contact hours will be facilitated. These hours will come in the forms of:
- Homestays
- Introduction to relevant cultural norms
- Language instruction and individual study on its role on world views
- Excursions to historical sites
- Excursions to markets and culturally significant sites
- Interviews with local contacts
- Service-learning projects focusing on social service
- Service-learning projects with an environmental focus

STUDENT ASSIGNMENTS:
REQUIRED HOURS – must complete 40 contact hours as detailed above. The Gap Year Association will provide verification of hours.

A DAILY JOURNAL in English will be a descriptive and reflective study/journal of your semester. Use it to keep brief narratives of your daily experiences. It should contain notes on places visited, interviews, daily purchases, oral language activities, student observations of different and unique cultural traits, etc. Self-reflection is important and will be a significant part of your journal grade. Self-reflection will involve answering questions that force you to think critically about your experiences. When writing journals consider questions like:
- How is this experience different from my expectations?
- What challenges have I faced throughout this experience? How am I overcoming them?
- Explore differences, similarities to your home culture.
- What have been the most poignant learning experiences? How has that impacted my world-view?

REQUIRED READING – must read at least 1 book from the Recommended Reading list and demonstrate knowledge learned and/or perspectives expressed (with citations) in your FINAL REPORT.

FINAL REPORT of insights gained from this international service experience. Our expectation is that the papers you submit will reflect college-level writing. Your report will be 8-10 pages in length. Reports must be typed (double spaced) with a cover page that includes your name, the quarter (eg. fall 2021), the international program attended, and course number.

Submit a comprehensive report analyzing one culture that you have direct experience with while on your program. How does this group identify itself? How is this group seen as by other groups? What has influenced the formation of this group in each of the following four categories: environmental, historical, cultural, economic? What are the limits to your ability to understand how the culture has come to be?

Final Report will be graded as follows:
